

Planetary Health: A Virtual Global Conference for Nurses & Midwives

“By adopting a planetary health lens, embracing transdisciplinary collaboration, and centering equity and Indigenous knowledge, nurses can help shape a healthier, more just, and sustainable future for all life on Earth.” –International Council of Nurses

The Nightingale Initiative for Global Health, the Commonwealth Nurses and Midwives Federation, and the Planetary Health Alliance invite you to attend Planetary Health: A Virtual Global Conference for Nurses and Midwives.

This global webinar will explore the essential connection between human health and the health of Earth’s ecosystems—we cannot have one without the other. The practice and leadership of nurses and midwives are critical to restoring and sustaining both.

The conference will be held live across six global regions on April 21 and April 24. During the first half of the program, Dr. Teddie Potter and Dr. Heidi Honegger Rogers will introduce core concepts of planetary health and demonstrate how nurses and midwives can integrate these principles into practice and leadership. The second half will feature regional experts discussing pressing planetary health threats in their areas and highlighting effective, context-specific solutions for diverse practice settings.
